THREE-BALLOT MARGIN DOWNS RELIEF ISSUE

New Administration, As Result, Already Facing Serious Problem

CITY APPROVES LEVY FOR JAIL

Three of Four State Issues, Including Bigelow's, Defeated

A one-mill levy, originated by city council to provide an estimated $12,000 for relief here during next year, was defeated by the slim margin of three votes at yesterday's election and, as a result, the new administration, taking office Jan. 1, has already been presented with a problem of considerable proportions.

The complete, unofficial vote for the city's 14 precincts, was:

For Relief—1,631.
Against—1,634.

Only a bare majority was needed for approval of the issue.

The wards split even on the vote. The Second and the Third wards approved the relief levy; the First and the Fourth wards voted against it.

Jail Plan Approved Here

Salem City and Perry township voters, however, were more lenient with the county jail levy, giving it a majority of 2,273 to 1,627.

Of four state issues, three were rejected, one was approved. The sole Ohio proposal which was given a majority here was that which would organize a state board of education to replace the present system which operates under a system of directors of education.

It carried in Salem by a vote of 1,855 to 1,573.

Both Bigelow amendments and the civil service issue were turned down by the local electors.

Salem rejected the pension plan by a genuinely decisive 3,063-to-670 vote; downed the Bigelow initiative proposal likewise, 2,811 to 627; and objected to the civil service program by a count of 1,822 to 1,214.

Epworth Leaguers Rally Here Tonight

The Epworth league members of the Methodist church here will entertain county league members at the annual booth festival and rally tonight at the church.

Local chairmen expect about 200 young people from the county organization. Booths will be arranged with displays of produce and gifts which each union has solicited for the Berea Methodist children's home.

Prizes will be given for the most attractively arranged displays.

A program has been planned for the evening after the judging.

The public is invited to attend.

Tax Levies Hit Hard Throughout State; Electors Retain Republicans In Majority of Mayorality Positions

Pension, initiative proposals of Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow crushed. Education amendment, civil service act defeated. Republicans retain majority Ohio mayorality posts. School levies favored generally; big bond issues fail. Bigelow drafts new, air-tight pension plan for 1940.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Rejecting overwhelmingly a plan to increase state pension rolls from 122,000 to 690,000 by guaranteeing income subsidies to residents over 60, Ohio today faced the threat of having to vote on the same thing in 1940.

Only about 460,000 persons voted in favor of the amendment although State Tax Commissioner William S. Ewalt had estimated 690,000 would be eligible under the plan offered in a constitutional amendment. The opposition vote was more than 3 to 1.

Defeat of the pension plan was the most smashing ever administered a state-wide issue according to the secretary of state's office. Not one of the 88 counties approved the proposed monthly payments of $50 to retired single persons and $80 to couples.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 8.—Democratic Mayor Lee Copenhaver, seeking his second term, was defeated in yesterday's municipal election by O. Earl Greenawalt, Republican who held office for two terms before being defeated by the incumbent in 1937.

Greenawalt polled 4,336 votes to 4,043 for Copenhaver.

James Hall, Republican incumbent, defeated Glenn Roberts, Democrat, 4,955 to 2,502, for the council presidency.

E. Allan McKeever, Republican, defeated Auditor A. J. Biram, 4,526 to 3,395. Biram was appointed to the post last March to fill out the unexpired term of the late Shelton Overdorf, who resigned to become county auditor. McKeever led a field of eight in the primary.

Hall, Lynch Re-elected

Clyde V. Hall, completing his first term as treasurer, was re-elected over his Democratic opponent, Alvin E. Carney, 4,996 to 2,622. Atty. General P. Lynch, Republican, defeated Atty. Gen. Samuel Cheroff as he did two years ago. The vote was 5,436 to 2,134.

Edgar H. Heddlston, George A. Hughes and Harry Wilson were elected councilmen-at-large, easily winning over Harry Wilson, E. F. Crawford, Charles Dietz and Shar-Quigley.

Ward Councilmen named include: First ward, Bert H. Good; Second, Clyde F. Skidmore; Third, Paul V. Baxter; Fourth, Homer T. Amos (R); Fifth, L. T. Capehart received 1,490 votes to win the election as township trustee in a field of 14 candidates.

BIGELOW PLANS LOSE DECISIVELY

Ballot Board Begins Tabulation of Local Issues In County

Columbiana county voters yesterday turned thumbs down, decisively, on four state proposals, including the Bigelow pension plan, and defeated a two-mill levy for a new county jail.

At the Columbiana county election board office in East Liverpool today, returns were incomplete on the jail levy vote, but officials of the board said that all indications point to a vote of approximately 14,045 to 12,567 against the proposal. The levy required a 65 per cent vote for approval.

Liverpool Beats Jail

Various sub-divisions in the county gave the jail levy a favorable vote, including Salem, but East Liverpool turned in a 4,023 to 3,023 vote against the issue.

Unlike the jail levy, the four state proposals lost in almost every locality in the district.

On the state board of education, the county voted 10,998 for and 13,856 against.

Bigelow pensions—6,087 for, 19,937 against.

Bigelow initiative—5,102 for; 18,836 against.

Civil service referendum—7,215 for; 14,185 against

Will Abandon Jail

County commissioners, previous to yesterday's election, announced that the century-old county jail would be abandoned, regardless of the result of Tuesday's vote. State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill has branded the structure a "fire trap" and has ordered it razed.

East Liverpool voters approved renewal of a three-fourths mill city hospital maintenance levy, 5328 to 2458. More than the required 65 per cent affirmative poll.

BALLOT UPSET IS RECORDED IN 4TH WARD

Normally Strong Republican Area Gives Phillips, Democrat, Lead In Three Precincts, Flick Scant 10 Majority in 2

RECORD MUNICIPAL VOTE CAST

Republicans Capture Six Council Seats; Two Democrats Re-elected; E. S. Dawson Loses To John T. Burns for School Board

In a record municipal election vote, Salem's voters Tuesday selected Norman Phillips, Democrat and former mayor, for their 1940-41 chief executive, re-elected two Democratic councilmen by close margins, and then gave large majorities to all other Republican candidates for city offices.

Phillips defeated B. L. Flick, Republican, by a majority of 443 after carrying ten of the 14 precincts. The vote was 2213 to 1769.

The biggest upset came in the Fourth ward, largest and normally strongest Republican ward in the city. Three of its five precincts gave Phillips a lead while the other two favored Flick by a total majority of only ten votes.

Unopposed was Auditor Carl Webster, Republican, who led the city ticket, and when it came to city solicitor the Republicans chose Henry Reese, Republican, by more than two to one over Paul Strader, Democrat. Reese, leading the ticket on contested offices, polled 2519 votes to Strader's 1222.

Republicans swept back into office Treasurer O. F. Judge, Democrat, and Charles Cornwall, president of council, 2327 to 333, over George Bricker, Independent.

Elected Councilmen-at-Large This avalanche of Republican strength also gave Albert Morris, Charles Rheutan and Harry Vincent wide margins of victory for councilmen-at-large over their Democratic opponents, George McArthur, F. W. Blevins and Victor Crasman. Morris and Rheutan were re-elected. Vincent was making his first bid for political favor.

The votes for these candidates were: Vincent 2295, Morris 2134, Rheutan 1896, McArthur 1452, Blevins 1182, Crasman 935.

In the First ward Republican Chad Zimmerman, veteran councilman, lost two of the four precincts but emerged a victor in the ward by a margin of 36 votes, 528 to 492.

The Second ward gave Arch H. Wentz, Republican running for the first time, an easy victory over E. W. Smith, Democrat, 497 to 153. Wentz carried all three precincts.

In the Third and Fourth wards the Democrats succeeded in re-electing their councilmen, but by very narrow margins.

Rekenberger, Koenreich Win Charles Rekenberger, Democratic incumbent, won from Fred Shafer, Republican, by only seven votes, carrying one precinct by four votes and the other by three. The total vote was Rekenberger 252, Shafer 245.

Fred Koenreich, Democrat, was returned to council by the Fourth ward when he carried three of the five precincts for a total majority of only 33 over George H. Bowman, Jr., Republican running for the first time. The vote: Koenreich 716, Bowman 683.

As the city turned out a new record of 4062 votes for an off-year election—two more than the previous record established in 1933—Tuesday's election brought one change in the personnel of the board of education. E. S. Dawson being defeated by John T. Burns. The other two incumbents seeking re-election, Atty. Joel H. Sharp and F. P. Mullins, were out in front.

The school board vote was: Sharp 2754, Mullins 2563, Burns 2537, Dawson 2279.

On the township ticket Joseph Reese, trustee, and Clarkson French clerk, were re-elected without opposition.

The five-man battle for the three justices of the peace resulted in the re-election of A. T. Hutson and T. R. Whinnery together with R. R. Johnson, former justice and former mayor of Salem. Johnson led this ticket with 2404. Hutson polled 2177 and Whinnery 2126. F. J. Eckstein trailed with 1637 and William G. Rich, present justice of the peace, was a poor fifth with only 658.

John Herman and H. V. Shepard were elected constables over Clarence Libert and Thomas Tice. The vote: Herman 1740, Shepard 1635, Tice 1106, Libert 735.

ELECTION RESULTS

Salem voters did a pretty good job of selecting a well-balanced municipal ticket at the polls Tuesday. The new city officials are men of sound judgment, with conservative leanings that should help to keep the administrative and legislative branches of city government on an even keel during the next two years.

In almost complete control of the situation Tuesday, Republicans disregarded party lines to elect a former Democratic mayor, Norman Phillips, to be the chief executive. An insidious whispering campaign caused the downfall of the Republican nominee. In his place they selected a man who does not hold strictly to party lines, a man who gave a good account of his stewardship in 1934-35, and who may be expected to give another honest and sincere administration.

As mayor, Norman Phillips did not reduce the city's bonded indebtedness, in spite of campaign ballyhoo to that effect, for only the city auditor and city council can possibly accomplish that. But he did do a good job as the chief administrative official, with several constructive measures to his credit.

One of the most important tasks that now confront him is his selection of a service director. As much as anything else, that appointive office entered into the campaign just closed, although neither candidate had made any promises. If Mayor Phillips wants to avoid as much public dissent as possible, he will look for new material for this office, for the voters are pretty evenly divided on all service directors who have served. For every one who stoutly defends any of the former directors there is one who bitterly assails his shortcomings.

In the new administration, the city is fortunate to have as its solicitor a young man of the qualifications which Henry Reese possesses. His vote, the largest for any contested office, attests to his popularity, and he gives promise of fitting admirably into the stability and alertness which such men as Auditor Karl Webster and Treasurer O. C. Hoover have given to city administrations for several years.

In jumping over the traces again, the voters re-elected two Democrat councilmen, Charles Renkenberger and Fred Koenreich, who have served with much credit to themselves during the last two years. With them in the new council will be two newcomers, Arch Wentz and Harry Vincent, both capable and of sound judgment, and Albert Morris, Charles Rheuban and Chas. Zimmerman, veterans who are familiar with city problems and whose experience will be invaluable to the new councilmanic body. And presiding over this group will be Charles Cornwall, who did an excellent job of guiding council in the last two terms.

What the voters meant in turning down the one mill levy for relief work in Salem during the next year is not very clear. On this issue they were almost evenly divided, but there was no reason why the vote shouldn't have been preponderantly in favor of the levy.

This defeat, by only three votes, puts a serious problem before the new city council. After January 1 the city will be practically without funds to carry the relief load which the state has placed in its lap. The tax levy would have solved the problem without seriously affecting the taxpayer. Without it, council must find some other means of carrying on relief work for needy families. Where it can turn is not apparent at the moment, but the public must expect that it will be more costly than the levy offered at Tuesday's election.

While Salem voters were defeating this much-needed levy, they gave a large majority to the levy for a new county jail. The unfortunate part of that, however, was the fact that not enough voters in the county held the same view on this issue.

With its defeat, the county commissioners will be forced to take a more expensive step, that of sending prisoners to other counties. Their maintenance in this manner will cost the county many times the amount it has been spending. That, however, is the only alternative, as the 100-year-old county jail must be abandoned. Some day the voters of this county may see the light. They certainly were blinded by their own stubbornness in Tuesday's election.

WE VOTE

Compared with the congressional elections last year when voters chose representatives and senators, or with next year's presidential election, voting on Nov. 7, 1939, doesn't seem to decide much. Indeed, from a national viewpoint, the two most important things to be voted on were fantastic pension plans in Ohio and California, which couldn't be regarded as stirring tributes to self-government.

But from another viewpoint—a more realistic one—the most important thing in representative democracy is the periodic privilege of deciding local issues at the ballot boxes. The heart of self-government isn't something that beats remotely in a state capitol or Washington, D. C., but the every day, intimate functioning of local political machinery. Confidence in government begins at home and grows outward.

Americans sometimes forget this, or fail to think about it. It has been a long time since their forefathers fought for the right to make political decisions for themselves—a long time since they debated hotly the question of hamstringing their newly created federal government lest it trespass in the field of local and state government. Perhaps they have grown too careless for their own good about the issues of "off-year" elections.

Be that as it may, it seems tremendously important that this year when millions of people elsewhere in the world are living under government by edict, Americans are able to vote calmly not as a matter of privilege but as a matter of right. They are using ballots not to confirm some decision already made, but to decide for themselves what kind of government they shall have. If mistakes are made, they are of the people's own making. If sound decisions are made, they too must be credited to the people. That's representative democracy—still doing business at the same old stand in the same old way 160-odd years after Americans decided it was worth fighting for.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, November 9

MUCH energy and initiative, with things moving into creative lines under high tempo, are read from favorable astral influences. It is probable that new matters will engage the attention, despite certain impeding or delaying elements, possibly a depressed mental state or a physical handicap. Employers, superiors and important organizations, diplomatic, political or fraternal bodies, may be sought for active support. It is a time for working toward high goals of accomplishment.

Those whose birthday it is may find their energies and spirit of initiative under high pressure for launching new projects of importance in spite of moments of physical depression or morbid mental slants. Or timid elders may offer opposition. But superiors, employers or those in political, fraternal or other influential places may abet constructive plans. Generally auspicious conditions await aggressive action.

A child born on this day may be energetic, enterprising, forceful and constructive, although it may have moments of discouragement due to physical handicaps or temporary mental morbidity. Its health should be safeguarded.

If it were true that the world just happened, as some pretend to believe, the people in it would be accidents. We can't think such a thing of our friends.

All court decisions agree that the pedestrian has the right of way. But that is as far as they go. They don't send any flowers.

This horse obviously is enjoying the last laugh as London motorists turn to horse power in the flesh because of gasoline rationing. When one runs out of gasoline in England these days, there's nothing for it but to heed the old cry of derision, "Get a horse!"

Carrots Really Healthful, Dr. Clendening Declares

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WHY ARE carrots considered a healthy food?

"Live for a fortnight on boiled carrots only if you would cure yourself of asthma," wrote John Wesley in his book, "An Easy and Natural Method for Curing Diseases, 1769."

The reverend gentleman's opinion may not be scientifically exact

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

so far as asthma is concerned, but it seems to indicate that carrots have diuretic virtues.

They contain, like other yellow vegetables—corn, for instance—carotene, which is the base out of which the body manufactures vitamin A.

At Vichy, the famous French health resort, carrots have been fashionable for many years. Vichy is known as a resort for derangements of biliary digestion and liver ailments. Carrots form an important part of the cure, and are served in some form or another at every meal. Did you every try carrot pancakes?

Here is the recipe:
Half a pint of carrot puree, two tablespoons butter, one egg, one-half cup of milk one cup flour, two tablespoons of baking powder, salt. Stir the butter into half a pint of hot carrot puree. Make a smooth batter with the well-beaten egg and milk added to the flour, baking powder and a little salt. Put in the carrot puree, beat well together and cook like pancakes on a hot griddle greased with vegetable fat.

NOT "JUST GROWING PAINS" in children?

Duchamp, a French orthopedic surgeon, coined the phrase in an essay in which he pointed out that children suffer from muscular pains and aches. "Just growing pains," as a phrase, is a great comfort to parents. But that sort of comfort is dangerous because the phrase often cloaks some serious condition. Jacob, the famous New York children's specialist pointed out that growing pains in many instances were manifestations of rheumatism.

Once-Mighty Gophers Looking For First Big Ten Victory

MINNESOTA TO FACE MICHIGAN ON SATURDAY

Bierman's Crew, Ranking 9th In Western Conference, Is Underdog

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 8. — Doleful Bernie Bierman and his once-mighty Minnesota Gophers have fallen on sad days for the first time in several years.

The Gophers rank ninth in the Western conference standings at the present reading with only the underdog's chance of improving that ranking Saturday when they play Michigan.

Bierman's defending champions, who won three conference championships and tied for another one in the past five years, are still without a Big Ten victory as the campaign moves into mid-November. The Gophers' only victory of the season came in the opener, a 62 to 0 romp over Arizona.

Since then Bierman's face has become longer. Nebraska slipped up on the Gophers and won 6-0. Then Minnesota braced and tied Purdue at 13-13, and many Big Ten followers passed the word around then that Minnesota still would be a mighty factor in the race.

Future Not Bright
But then Ohio State's big and powerful machine rolled over the 1938 champs, 23 to 20, and Northwestern, coming along fast after a slow start, cut them down, 14 to 7. In their last four games the Gophers have scored 40 points to 56 for the opposition.

And the future looks no brighter than the past with Michigan, Iowa and Wisconsin ahead. Bierman has the backfield talent, headed by Harold Van Evert, but the line has resembled a sieve on several occasions.

It was no secret that the Gophers were laying elaborate plans to upset Michigan if the Wolverines got to Saturday's game undefeated. But the Illinois reversal upset Bierman's plans. Now his eleven will be forced to play an inflated outfit determined to make amends for its stunning loss a week ago.

Michigan figures to bounce back strong against the Gophers not only because of last week's defeat, but because Minnesota gave the Wolverines their only Big Ten setback a year ago. Minnesota won, 7 to 6, and went on to win the title.

Bad news for Purdue: Paul Soper, Northwestern's first string left halfback, is back and rarin' to go after an attack of flu blocked him out of the Minnesota game.

He has trucked the ball 256 yards in 36 tries. The Wildcat defense will get a thorough test Saturday when Mal Edvard turns Mike Byelene, and Brock and Brown loose in the backfield for Purdue. Bo McMillin is polishing up Indiana's aerial equipment for the invasion of New York this weekend against Fordham, with Hal Hersh being groomed for the spotlight role.

Bill Hofer, Iowa's freshman coach, may forget, toward to root for Saturday when the Hawkeyes take on Notre Dame. Hofer was a Notre Dame quarterback last season. He should be admirably suited to teach his yearlings the Irish plays for use in practice this week. Illinois figures to be almost at top strength for its game with Wisconsin this week. Cliff Peterson, fullback out since the Southern California game, Nate Johnson, tackle, and Halfback Chuck Purvis, both handicapped by injuries, are rounding into shape. A leg injury will keep Tony Gradisnik, left halfback, from playing for the Badgers. Chicago as if it doesn't already have enough trouble, must face Ohio State this week without two first stringers and a second team man. Varsity Fullback Bob Howard has an injured leg. Varsity Tackle Dave Wiedmann has quit for the season because of a recurring injury and Second String Fullback Wallace Ottomeyer has the flu.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Now they're blaming Michigan's downfall on its soft October schedule. The winter address of Peter Astra, the 3-year-old trotting champ, is Urbana, O. Ozzie Solem's Syracuse contract has a year or so to run, but the up-state wolves are hollering, "pay off". Reason Rabbit Maranville got the gate at Albany was because the Pirates wouldn't consent to a working agreement with Albany unless they named the manager. His friends say Maj. John L. Griffith, who is ill, won't be able to resume his post as Big Ten commissioner for another six months.

Point For Zuppke
Football coaches say Bob Zuppke is the best pointer for a single game in the country. And the Zuppke and De Corveant knockers are stepping all over each other's toes in the football doghouse.

Nova Scotia points are dicker with Tony Galento for a refereeing tour. Tomboy Patty Berg, the golferette, has succumbed to feminine ways and will be a bridesmaid at her sister's wedding. The N. Y. Football Giants are making goo goo eyes at one-man-gang Shetley who has played 60 minutes of nearly every Purman U. game this year and is the big berth of the offense.

FREE-FOR-ALL
Last week the N. Y. Post said Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International league, will be a hot favorite for Judge Landis' job if and when. Now comes the Washington Post with an inside tip: Postmaster-General Farley will be it.

That talk about Manhattan quitting football after this year was prompted by reports that the Jaspers are $60,000 in the red so far. Executives of the late Maj. Ral Parr have decided to sell several of his two-year-olds, including Victory Morn whose popper also sired Chaledon. If Soper, Cutch and some of the other cripples get back, Notre Dame may find Northwestern vary, very tuff.

Carnegie Favored
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—Betting commissioners today installed Carnegie Tech a 7 to 5 favorite to defeat Pitt in their intra-city grid struggle Saturday, but Tartan coach Bill Kern said a bit pessimistically: "Our quarterbacks aren't able to handle the blocking assignment effectively and so it bogs down our whole attack. Pitt hasn't had this trouble so with a runner like Dick Cassano and passer the like of Emil Narriek, the Panthers have one of the most dangerous offensive elevens in the country."

Lenny Mancini Wins
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Lenny Mancini, 133, of Youngstown, O., knocked out Young Chappie, 141, of Albany, N. Y., in the first round of a semi-final eight-round bout last night.

Speechees of candidates for the city council had unusual power for this year. The three candidates took sound tests at the General Electric laboratories and the results showed each made more noise than Johnny Weismuller giving his "Tarzan" yell. One of them, Walter H. Ramsey, had a decibel rating equal to the roar of a lion.

BOLES, WOOSTER COACH, RETIRES

Forsees Abbreviated Schedules for Scots In Coming Years

(By Associated Press)

WOOSTER, Nov. 8.—Lawrence Casper Boles, Wooster College's football coach for the last 25 years, visions the day when "professionalized" college football will force his Scots to curtail their schedule to five or six games, and perhaps play some teams twice in a season.

Boles will relinquish coaching duties at the close of the season to devote full time to the athletic directorship.

But he insisted today that Wooster would adhere to its strict policy of meeting in football only those schools with similar athletic and academic standards.

Long a foe of overemphasis, Boles believes more and more colleges will pay their players in the coming years.

Amateurs Are Few
"I don't mean to suggest that there are few strictly amateur teams to be found," he declared, "but there certainly aren't enough of them to be found in our natural territory to fill out a schedule and we can't afford to travel far afield to find them."

The Scots meet Case Saturday and then play their final game under Boles the following week against Denison.

"I never want to see the Case-Wooster rivalry broken," Boles said. "There hasn't been a year without a Case-Wooster game since 1902, and Case is one of the few teams left of which we can be sure that their football players are students."

He sees little immediate hope for a return to "sane and healthy football" among smaller schools.

"We won't see that again until the public gets fed up with high pressure football, as it will some day. Meanwhile there isn't much anybody can do. College presidents everywhere know that football is out of their control and they won't touch it because they are afraid. They have to hold their jobs like the rest of us, and they won't risk the enmity of people to whom football is more important than education."

The Ohio State Medical Association warned hunters against Tularemia, a disease which occasionally infects rabbits and squirrels and sometimes birds.

"Tularemia's victims," the Association said, "take a long time getting well. If a cure is possible at all, it requires from six months to a year."

A total of 150 cases of Tularemia were reported to the State Board of Health Department last year and 19 of them caused death.

The Association pointed out that Tularemia-infected rabbits were sluggish and advised the hunter to ignore those which are none too frisky.

It advised the use of rubber gloves in cleaning game and urged that rabbit meat be cooked thoroughly.

STOP THAT SHIMMY with BALANCED WHEELS
Manbee Wheel Balancer Does the Job Accurately

This machine will balance a wheel with less weights than the average balancer on the market today. Weights, costing 25c each makes a very substantial savings to car owners.

A wheel that is out of balance one ounce develops into a force of 12 pounds at 60 miles per hour. Needless to say, such a pounding will soon eat out spindle pins and tire-rim ends and cause severe shimmy.

TO HAVE YOUR WHEELS BALANCED TODAY IS TO AVOID EXPENSE OR ACCIDENT TOMORROW!
